

UNISON asked local government employers in England, Wales and Northern Ireland for a pay increase of £3,000 or 10%, whichever was greater. The offer we received falls short of this at £1,290*.

With the cost-of-living crisis continuing to hit working people the hardest, we're pushing for a decent pay rise for our members.

We are consulting members on this offer now and want you to have your say. We recommend that you vote to reject the offer.

The consultation will run from 5 – 28 June.

*If you work part time or term time only hours, the increase would be less depending on how many hours you work. The offer will be different for members in London; in outer London, the offer is £1,491 and in inner London it's £1,575.
